Experience

WcraftX | Belgavi Co-Founder

As the co-founder of Wcraftx, a SaaS and marketing company, I've been deeply involved in shaping the vision and direction of the organization. My experience has been multifaceted, encompassing various aspects of business development, product innovation, and customer engagement. In my role, I've played a pivotal part in defining our company's unique value proposition, identifying market opportunities, and devising strategies to effectively position our SaaS solutions in the competitive landscape. Additionally, as a co-founder, I've been actively involved in fostering strategic partnerships and alliances to expand our reach and enhance our offerings.

WcraftX | Belgavi Marketing Consultant

As a marketing consultant, I bring a wealth of experience in strategic planning, market research, brand management, campaign execution, digital marketing, team leadership, and client relationship management. My proficiency in time management ensures efficient handling of multiple projects and deadlines, while my cycle management expertise ensures seamless execution of marketing campaigns from inception to evaluation. I have a proven track record of driving business growth and exceeding client expectations through tailored strategies and effective team collaboration.

WcraftX | Belgavi Social media manager

As a seasoned social media manager, I have demonstrated proficiency in strategic planning, content creation, and community engagement to drive impactful results for my team at Wcraftx. With a keen eye for emerging trends and a deep understanding of various social media platforms, I have led my team in developing compelling campaigns that resonate with our target audience.
